This License Agreement is for the purpose of allowing the Rhode Island School of Design (RISD) to erect an 800 square foot home exhibit on a portion of the RiverWalk in Providence. This is part of the U.S. Department of Energy's Solar Decathlon. The exhibit will be built by students beginning in October 2004 under the guidance of several Professors of Architecture and will be open to the public at no charge by June 2005. The home will remain in place until next September when members of the Rhode Island National Guard will transport it to Washington, D.C. for the international competition on the grounds of the Smithsonian Institute. RISD will provide reflective tape at the top of the temporary construction fence. It will move the construction fence more than 70 feet away from the center of the helicopter pad. RISD will change the construction fence to chain-link in order to allow the wind generated from a helicopter to pass through the fence. RISD will provide security lighting. In addition, RISD will invite the RI Airport Corporation to inspect the fence once constructed and ask that they inspect the fence on a regular basis. The RI Airport Corporation will let the Department know when the helicopters will be using the pad. RISD will list the RI Airport Corporation and the Department as additional insured. The number of students on site at any one time will be ten.
